FIG. 10a is a diagram illustrating a sequence of browser windows (41, 42, 43, 44) displayed on a computer screen, representing a user's interaction with a website. A user (40) is shown interacting with the browser windows. The browser windows display a website with a menu bar (File, Edit, View, Go, Favorites, Help) and a content area. The content area includes a sidebar with links (My Account, Account Preferences, Change Password, Address Book, Log Off) and a main content area. The main content area displays a 'Sign Up' form with fields for Name, Email, Password, and Confirm Password. The browser windows are labeled 41, 42, 43, and 44, indicating a sequence of views. A large arrow points from the sequence of windows down to a final window (45) which shows the completed 'Sign Up' form. A vertical line (46) separates the sequence of windows from the final window. A label 'A' is placed near the bottom of the vertical line, and a label 'B' is placed near the top of the vertical line. The diagram is labeled FIG. 10a.

If you sell your products using online auctions, classified services or your own Web Site iShip.com can offer you a way to not only show your Buyers what they will pay for shipping, but also automate the entire post-sale process

We will help you notify the Buyer of the total sale price - including shipping, getting the Buyer's shipping selections, getting the shipping address and even collecting credit card information for you to process. We can also let you add your business's handling charges without having to calculate percentages or subtotals. We do the work for you.

To setup your Selling Preferences you will need to do only three easy steps:

1. Select the services you will use to ship your products. The Buyers will see only the services you select.
2. Select how your shipping charges are displayed. Is your shipping included in the sale? Do you charge for handling? We will make sure the price is right.
3. Select what kinds of payment you accept. We will find out how the Buyer is going to pay. We will even collect credit card information for you to process.

You can set these preferences up now or later, but if you would like to do it now, press Continue. Otherwise, press Finish to complete registration.

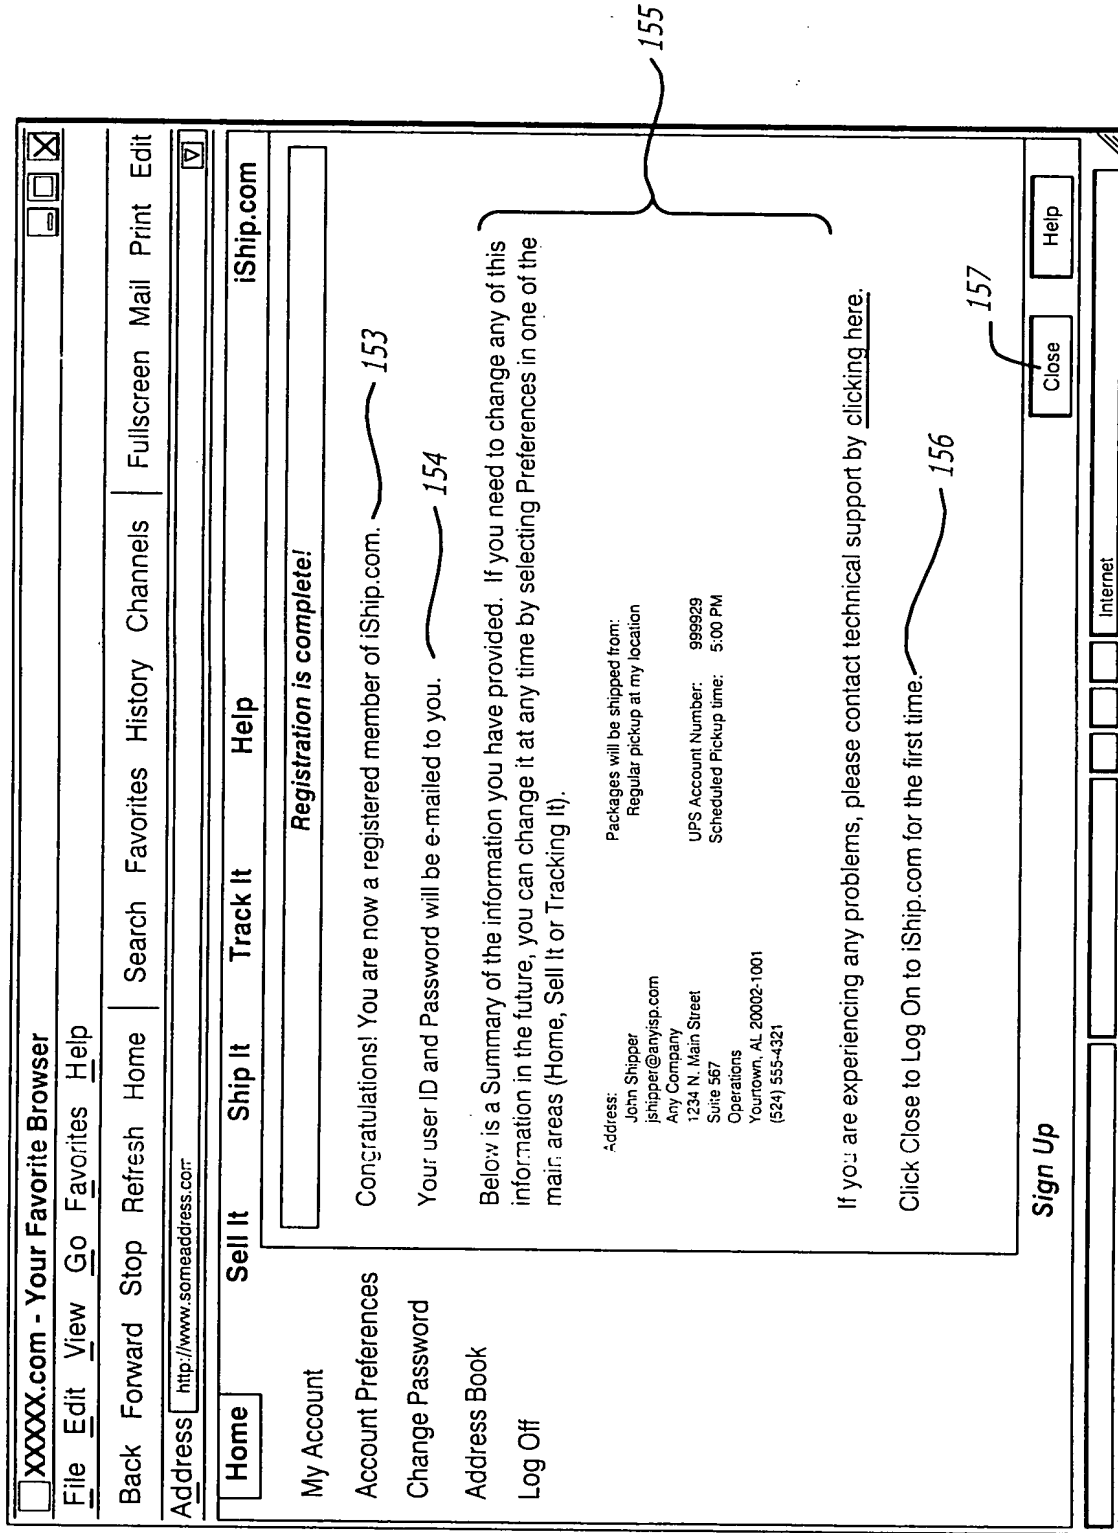

FIG. 18

FIG. 19 is a schematic diagram of a computer system 100, which includes a processor 102, a memory 104, a network interface 106, and a user interface 108. The processor 102 is connected to the memory 104, the network interface 106, and the user interface 108. The memory 104 stores data and instructions for the processor 102. The network interface 106 enables the computer system 100 to communicate with other devices over a network. The user interface 108 provides a means for a user to interact with the computer system 100.

The image shows a screenshot of a software dialog box titled "Messages". The dialog box has a standard Windows-style title bar with minimize, maximize, and close buttons. Inside the dialog, there is a text instruction: "Please provide the Names and E-mail Addresses of the people you want to notify that a package has been sent. Indicate if they should be included on the 'TO' or 'CC' line." Below this instruction, there are four input fields arranged in two columns. The left column has two fields: "TO:" followed by a dropdown menu (labeled 1101) and a text box (labeled 1102), and "CC:" followed by a dropdown menu (labeled 1104) and a text box (labeled 1103). The right column has two fields: "Name:" followed by a text box (labeled 1107) and "E-Mail:" followed by a text box (labeled 1108). At the bottom of the dialog box, there are three buttons: "OK", "Cancel", and "Help".

End of Day

Print a driver record for packages shipped.

UPS requires its customers using computer based shipping systems to perform "End-of-Day" at least once each day a package is shipped. This will produce a driver record and send an electronic record of your packages to UPS, ensuring proper billing. This is only required, however, if you are using your own UPS account. You should perform End and print your driver record before the driver arrives.

You have shipped XX packages since your last driver pickup.

To print a driver record, press Perform End.

Perform End

Reprint

Reprint a driver record from a previous End-of-Day.

Occasionally you might need to reprint a driver record if the original was lost, damaged or was otherwise unreadable by the driver. To reprint a driver record from a previous date click Find Driver Record below. You will be shown a list of previous records in the order they were created, the most recent at the top of the list.

FIG. 81 is a schematic diagram of a computer screen displaying a web browser window. The browser window shows a website for "iShip.com" with a navigation bar at the top containing links: "Home", "Sell It", "Ship It", "Track It", and "Help". Below the navigation bar, the website content is divided into two main sections. The left section, labeled 2110, contains a "My Tracking" link, a "Shipping Log" link, a "View Inbound Pkgs" link, and a "QuickTrack" form with a "go" button (2116). The right section, labeled 2112, displays a "Shipping Log" table with columns for "SHIP TO", "SERVICE CARRIER", "SHIP DATE", and "DELIVERY DATE". The table lists several shipments, including one from "Tom Mounsey" (2080) and another from "Ground UPS" (2127). A "Details" link (2124) is provided for each shipment. The browser window also shows a "File" menu with options like "Edit", "View", "Go", "Favorites", and "Help". The address bar displays "http://www.somedress.com". The status bar at the bottom indicates "Internet".
